INVESTIGATE REVOKING OF HOTEL BOOZE PRIVILEGES

Quiz Into Conditions Surround Revocation of Joe Baker's License for Manhattan Hotel to Come up.

Right to Sell Booze Was Taken Away on Charge That Ordinance Was Violated, Walker Recommended Action.

Joseph Baker, proprietor of the Manhattan Hotel, last night asked and received assurance from the city council that an open investigation be conducted at which reasons why his liquor license was revoked would be taken up. Baker's license was rescinded on the recommendation of Chief of Police Charles Walker. Baker now wishes to know why he was not given a hearing at the time the right to sell liquor was taken away from him.

The matter may turn out to be another vital angle of the at present somewhat involved police controversy and some interesting developments may be the result when it is taken up on Wednesday evening.

Jacobs Reports

Police Judge Hiram Jacobs reported that $72 had been collected in fines during the past month.

Prouty Appointed

Chester H. Prouty was named as official checker in the office of City Engineer H. D. Chapman. At the meeting of the council a week ago Chapman said that he did not need the services of a checker and preferred to do the work himself.

The matter of the card index system for the City Engineer's office was referred to the finance committee when it was announced that the new equipment would cost $27.75.

Street Lights

The street lighting committee announced that an arc light was desired by the California Cap works at the intersection of Pullman and Bay Avenues. The matter was referred to the Light Committee for one week.

Two applications for the installation of arc lights, these being at 10th and Florida and at 12th and Virginia were denied by the council on recommendation of the street lighting committee which announced that these sections are sufficiently lighted at present.

Lay Over Liquor License.

An application for a liquor license made by Harry G. Jackson of Pullman was referred to the license committee for one week.

The matter of amending the electric ordinance for the city was laid over.

Want Check Protector

A communication was received by the city council last night from City Engineer H. D. Chapman and City Tax Collector I. E. Marshal asking that a check protector be installed for their use. The request was referred to the finance committee.

Land Owners In Confab Over Paving

A considerable discussion took place before the city council last evening as to what kind of pavement should be used in the improvement of Bay Avenue. The larger property owners, including Ben Woolner one of the Stege Heirs who owns about four hundred feet of the land facing the street, desire the pavement to be of cheap texture. The smaller property owners of whom H. L. Mitchell was a representative and also the Stege Hardware company, maintained that a high class and more expensive pavement should be installed. The matter will be taken up at a meeting at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Four kinds of pavement have been suggested, including bithulithic, Topeka Top, Oil Macadam, and Water Macadam.

Richmond Club's Rummage Sale This Week

The Richmond Club will hold a rummage sale at the Elk's building Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. New Conduit Will Cost $115,000 and Will Carry Waste From 40,500,000 Feet of Property.

The $115,000 storm sewer to be constructed by the city will drain 40,500,000 square feet of property, according to plans and specifications submitted to the city council last night by the city engineer. The conduit sewer will discharge in the bay. It will extend as far north as the plant of the General Roofing company at the junction of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroad company's tracks at the northern viaduct. The waste of the Rooting company's plant will be carried in that line. All of the district from Tenth street to Twenty-third street this far north will be drained.

YOUTH HOBOES IT HALF WAY ACROSS THE CONTINENT

Is now at Home of Walter Stubblefield, Night Foreman of the Standard Oil's Asphalt Department.

Cebron Bonds, a seventeen year old boy has arrived at the end of perhaps one of the roughest trips ever experienced by a youth of his age, considering the conditions under which he atempted it. The boy is now at the home of Walter Stubblefield, night foreman of the Asphalt Department of the Standard Oil company, who is his brother-in law.

Several months ago the lad started out afoot from his home in Holdenville, Oklahoma with two dollars and fifty cents in his pocket. He had become involved in some disagreement with his older brothers who he said made life miserable for him and one afternoon, without saying anything to his folks or anyone else about his plans started out for California. The hardships encountered by the boy and the manner in which he overcome them is remarkable. The boy was unable to secure employment much of the time and was without food for several extended periods. The trip was made via Los Angeles.

CITY TO DRAIN DELUGED DIST.

Plans and specifications for the installation of a draining system to carry the waste water from the tracks of the Southern Pacific company from Twenty-third street to the Bay were submitted to the city council last night by the city engineer. Each winter the company's tracks and deluged by large volumne of water which collects and impedes traffic along the roads in that vicinity.

Call Mammoth Mass Meeting Fix 4th Plans on Wednesday

Mayor E. J. Garrard last night proclaimed that a mass meeting will be held next Thuraday evening when plans for the gigantic Independance Day celebration to be held July 2nd, 3rd and 4th in this city will be outlined.

Committees will be appointed and tentative plans as to securing of special features and attractions will be made. It is planned to make the meeting one imbued with public spirit and a disire to make the celebration one that will go down in the annals of the city as the most elaborate and successful ever given in the bay region.

Mayor Garrard has previously expressed himself as hoping to see all of the bay cities in atendance at Richmond's mammoth tribute to the nation's natal day.

Chap. I, The Power of the Press

And the way of the city council was dark and mysterious. It sat behind closed doors and delved into matters police. And the ire of the populace was aroused. In the expressive vernacural of the street the good people of the community inquired of the paternal relatives of the city "wherefore gettest thou this stuff!" we fain would secure a little "dope" on this vital situation.

And lo! The Daily News availed itself of the Power of the Press and wishing to see the desire of the people gratified it came forth in large black type and suggested would it not be advisable to hold an OPEN MEETING at which our good people might get a look at the INSIDE of what was going on? And behold! The city council changed its tactics and last night when it sat in sagely session it said:

"On next Wednesday evening we shall conduct an OPEN INQUEST into the charges preferred by Inspector Eigenman against Charles Walker and by Charles Walker against Fred Eigenman, and hte people shall gather if they desire. And the people will gather and secure an EARFUL and there shall be joy and satisfaction in the fair land and the DAILY NEWS shall go on its way rejoicing, hoping that it has secured for the people that which they would and should know.

LESSEN GRADE, BUILD ARCHES RAISE WALKS IN S. P. VIADUCT

City Engineer H. D. Chapman reported to the council at its meeting last night on proposed improvements to the Macdonald avenue viaduct under the Southern Pacific tracks. The cost of the work according to the city engineer's figures will aggregate $9,350.

Instead of the perpendicular columns which at present support the railroad tracks it is proposed to construct arche, giving more stability and more pleasing appearance to the structure. It is likewise proposed to raise the sidewalks, widen the section devoted to the use of vehicles until three automobiles may safely pass each other, and to materially decrease the steep grade at both approaches.

Chapman was instructed to take the matter up with the Southern Pacific authorities.

Fire Breaks Out in Combination Hostelry and Barn for Livestock

Joe Gianzawala employed in the Santa Fe Roundhouse, Joe Rampoli, and Rampoli Guiseppi have solved the high cost of living but the profits accrued through the exercise of their patent process nearly took their departure yesterday afternoon in sudden flight.

Gianzawala, Rampoli, and Guizeppi, along with two horses and a cow occupy apartments in a barn in the rear of a house at 645, First street. The combined worldly goods of the trio, (exxcluding the livestock which of course had none) ammounted to $193 in cash, a silver watch, $500 in postal savings receipts, and one twenty dollar bill.

Yesterday at 4 p. m. a fire broke out which nearly destroyed the barn and its contents. The valor and honesty of the members of the Richmond Fire department, restored to the lodgers their hoardings and averted total destruction of their "simple and primitive dwelling".

Abbott Gonzales, three years of age, also a resident in the rather questionable habitue of humans, is said to have ignited a stack of hay in the barn. He was playing with matches.

The original intention of the city engineer was to prepare plans and specifications for the improvement of the street as far north as Esmond avenue.

The dead body of James M. Harrington was found in his room at the home of Mrs. John Vincent at Hercules yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Physicians stated life had departed from the body eight or ten hours before it was discovered. Death is believed to have been due to heart trouble.

WORKERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

The greatest hope of the workers naturally lies in the hope of the future and the future is enwrapped in their children. The workers must know that if this world is ever to be rid of cursed economic exploitation, a strong intelligent class most rise up and overthrow it, but first of all suih a class must have a chance to develop. To bring into the world children who have no chance to develop both physically and mentally is decidedly—immoral and criminal. Na human being is feeble-minded by his own chioce. Degeneracy is caused by bad environment.

To be sure al healthy minred people want children. And perhaps the greatest and noblest joy of human beings is to clasp their offspring to their heart. But that joy must turn into remorse and pain when one little one after another appears in the family too poor to care for them, unless the parents have reached the point where reason and forethought no longer hold sway. Many parents could safely navigate and steeer their lifeboat trough the economis current with a couple of children, but the third child makes it wobble and the fourth drives them to to a state of constant fear of immediate want, while the fifth and sixth child spills them out and they are thrown upon the shore of the wretched tenement district. Instead of the father's income increasing to increase the amount of food and clothing needed, it decreases, because hebecomes shabby in appearance, being illnourished and illfed.

He cannot wait for a decent job, he must grasp at anything that offers, no matter how low the wages. The mother must turn into a breadwinner too,, so must each child as fast as it can use its hands and feet. Sweatshop contractors and factory owners as shrewd business men know how to benefit by this human misery, and by piecework wring every ounce of vitality out of these families for a mere crust of bread, so to speak. They laugh at child-labor laws and glory in the safe margin of over-supply of workers.

The employers at their meetings in the best of times are always more or less anxious about what they call a safe-margin of labor. This safe margin consists principally of the unemployed. This safe margin does not consist of efficient and intelligent human beings. In fact the less intelligent they are the better for the employer. It is enough that they are outside the gate clamoring gfor a job to frighten those who work. As long as the wrokers inside work without a murmur or organization the employer points to those outside as so many miserable creatures fit for nothing, but the moment the workers begin to stir inside, the employer suddenly finds that those outside are good honest pebple who should have freedom to earn an honest living, by scabbing. The employers safe margin of human beings are veritable damned souls. Damned before they are born by poverty and misery. Shal the workers go on bringing children into this world that they cannot care for, and give them to a society organized to thive on their misery, while it thinks more of its horses and dogs? Let us say no. A thousand times no.

Birth control leagues are springing up all over the country and are seeking to limit the offspring. To do this scientifically os coudse is not yet possible but it has advanced considerablyl of late. It does not mean abortion or the use of drugs but it means a little thought and care for those living and for those not yet living.

The workers are not poor because they are too prolific but they are poor because they cannot get the product of their labor. But the the product of their labor they can not get until the yorganize, all of them, intelligently. Experience has proven that the more intelligent the workers are the easier they can organize. Bt the intelligence becomes less and less the farther we get below decent environment, and the more difficult efficient organization becomes. The would be saviors who loog behind the bread line for salvation may be sincere, but they are nevertheless fools. The workers must use their own means to produce only healthy and happy children. They owe that to themselves and to the race. Those who know must go forth and teach those who do not know in spite of all fludery and law. The cry and misery of millions of little children and distracted uninformed mothers, ought to be sufficient call to any decent minded man or woman to give up his or her her loins to sally forth to end it. We are sick and tired of hearing the office seeker slopping over and all over himself about starving children and helpless mothers, while he has to offer is charity, meager charity of the State or some other institution. Heaven help the child that the institutions get their hands on. Child-institutions in all forms have proven to be a prolific source of graft and rottenness. Surely, a child has as much right to parental love and care as it has to live. And we take it for granted that fatherhood and motherhood is the most sacred thing on earth that is entitled to all the knowledge and all the advantage that the race has gained.

The sex question is a tremendous question in itself that vitally concernt the welfare of the workers. The man and the woman who giggle and sneer at the sex question openly, usually busy himself and herself with it secretly to the detriment of their health and intelligence. Recently a young girl came to me from Portland and told me that she had joined the Birth Control League up there, but when she told her pastor about it he was horrified. Thereupon she had gone to another church, where the pastor looked upon the matter differently. She took me to the medical library and showed me many scientific books on the subject. She looked upon sex very much as she looked upon any other faculty and function of the human being. There was certainly no danger of that girl going wrong. I can only wish that parents and teachers could learn that ignorance and secrecy are no guides to virtue.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG— Who stars in the production of Trilby at the Richmond Theater

THE RICHMOND

Trilby a model for an obscure sculptor, seeking adventure, meets little Billie, the Laird, Svengali, Ghecko, and others. Svengali experiments with Trilby and proves thit he can hypnotize her. His develish mind conceives the idea of keeping her under mesmeric power and giving her, through his power, the voice of a nightingale.

Billie and Trilby fall in love with each other, and when Svengali finally influences Trilby away and through his hellish power makes of her a great Diva, Billie is unconsolable.

Trilby mounts the ladder of fame, ind soon becomes a universal figure.

Billie and his friends happen into a theater one night, where a fashionable audience has gathered to hear the famous La Svengali, as Trilby has become known. Discovering Trilby Billie attacks Svengali, who dies of heart failure, and Trilby after months of torture, recovers her own personality and is about to become happy, when, facing Svengali's picture, the old influence returns and she drops dead of fright.

Others prominent in the cast are Paul McAllister and Chester Barnett.

"Everything progressing satisfactory," was the subject of the afternoon statement of the perartment yesterday. Yes, it continued, this celebration nexxt Sunday is going to be a world beater and in addition a club of former coast league stars is going to receive a similar reception.

That reminds us fans. Here we have been hollering about the celebration but not one word have we said of the game. You remember Scrappy Bill Leard, dontchu? Well, he'll be with the Maxwells. Bill is still amongst those present on the field of battle and can always be counted upon to give the fans a good going over.

Remember one time over at Recreation Pirk. William had been having a rough day with the fans. They had informed William that he was anything but a baseball player and William had retorted with great spirit.

But Job's patience would have been exhausted eventually and as Bill is but human he finally gave way. Long about the sixth as William removed himself from the batter's box after ingloriously going out via the S. O. route, one fan in the booze cage remarked: Ah say yuh blankety, blank stiff, why doncha take your chin outa ya way so yuh can hit.'

Now William is proud of that chin. And so he waxed pugnacious. According to recollection, the reserves had to be called out to prevent William from homicide. At that he was perfectly justified.

Then there will be Tyler Christian, former leader of the Oaks; Joe Tobin, formerly with the Seals and a gang of others, all well known locally. They're the kind of boys we like to see perform and if the gime Sunday is a rip snorter, then we will proceed to perish right away.

"Papa" Bushnell, chef at the Hotel Glenn breezed into the office yesterday. "Say," he said and there was blood in his eye "whoinell writes that bunk of Miss Geeshes Omechick." No one would admit. "Well," said Bush, "I was just going to hand him a cigar."

The office still shows sections of wreckage.

Something appears radically wrong. For several issues the names of Howard French, Herman Tuller, Carlton Stetson and other famed celebrities have not appeared in print.

"Oof!" said the Cannibal King.

Maybe anthropology will say that this is no way for a cannibal—and especially a royal one to talk. But it's funny—and that's why Alexander Pantages hires a cannibal king who can say "Oof" with every inflection known. And that's why the "Cannibal aids" offer one of the most successful vaudeville musical bits ever seen on the stage at the Oakland Pantages.

"The Cannibal Maids" is one long joy-show;—just one laugh after the other. The lightly clad girls dance and sing,—all with a Tropical twang, and the Big Chief and the Man eaters,—his name's Elmore when he's not working—dances, fights, sings and snorts, in approved cannibalistic style. A real cannibal may be no joke—but when he's stewing a missionary on a vaudeville stage he's a scream.

Laugh after laugh rewards the stories of Frank Bush, who is milking good his title of king of the story tellers at the Pantages this week. This act is one of the big headliner features of the season. Bush is known wherever people like to laugh. He does not leave New York often—for he's kept busy in the vaudeville houses there almost all the time—but Pantages lured him to California,—and here he is. His stories are all new in fact he picks them up every time he goes out to get a match for his cigar.

The Steiner Trio, remarkable gymnasts have an act that is startling as it is striking. They perform the most difficult feats of the horizontal bar with apparent ease. A thrilling feature also is the act of the Imperial Troupe of Cyclists, especially the bicycle basketball game between the American and Canadian teams.

"The prodigal Daughter" a charmingly acted little sketch, is offered by Leah Hatch and Jay Hanni, with a clever company. It is a story of mother love's triumphs over the principles of a strait-laced and stern father, and humor and pathos are cleverly blended.

Grace McCormick, a violinist, proves one of the big hits of the bill. Her music is charming—and so is she.

Rice and Newton, in Fun in One, have a melange of comedy and song that pleases.

Helen Holmes takes a daring leap and goes through several hair raising adventures in "The Girl and the Game."

Next Week sees the arrivil of Gracie Cameron, famed comedienne, and the Carman minstrels. "The Iron Claw," a remarkable film series, is booked for the near future.

DR. FRASER'S OPINION UPHELD

Dr. Fraser, who attended at the birth of Charles Edward Slingsby, the "million dollar changeling" who an English court has decided is not the legal heir to the extensive Slingsby estate in England, stated last night that the decision of the British court is in accordance with his version of the case from its beginning and his absolute knowledge of certain disputed facts.

"I attended at the birth of the child which was on September 1st, 1910," stated Dr. Fraser, "it was born to a Geyserville school girl and its father was a chaffeur of that town." I procured the child for the Slingsby's and had little idea that the transaction would culminate in the manner in which it has.

ONLY SHORT TIME LEFT TO VOTE FOR FAVORITE

There isn't much time left for candidates and their supports in the popularity contest of the local baseball fraternity. In fact but five days will make their appearance and as the sun sinks down behind the new $1,500 grandstand Saturday evening, the contest will close.

Heve you bought any votes yet? If you haven't get busy and invest a few duckets in a legitimate and profitable enterprise. Anything that advances a city is as legitimate as a bakery business and this particular investment will bring results not only to the individual but everyone in the city.

Votes can be secured from Bill Luce at the Pacific Gas and Electric company's office or from Gus Lang, Macdonald avenue druggist or from Neidecker, wests side druggist.

Don't delay any longer. Certainly there are a few stray dimes around the ranch and these can be put to no more profitable investment than into votes.
